

Markham Stouffville Hospital

Markham continues to be one of the most rapidly growing areas in southern Ontario with a current estimate of about 350,000-400,000 people. Markham Stouffville Hospital is located approximately 40 minutes from the heart of downtown Toronto. It remains as one of Ontario's "newest" hospitals although it just celebrated its 25th year of service along with a doubling of its physical plant. There are approximately 120 Medical beds. The Department of Medicine over this time has grown from a group of 6 members to approximately 40. Markham Stouffville Hospital remains as one of the most congenial places to work as there is a very collegial atmosphere between all staff.

Currently the hospital is staffed by a single hematologist. The responsibilities would include both benign and malignant hematology. There is a fully functional Oncology Clinic as well as a very active Thrombosis Clinic. The laboratory is well staffed with ability to directly or indirectly provide a full complement of both benign and malignant hematologic investigations.

The current on-call service requirements are approximately 1 in 4 weeks including weekends. Covering solid tumor oncology (with endless support as needed) would be within the expectations. The option to participate in general medicine call is available.
