

Royal Columbian Hospital – British Columbia

We have some locum work available as of December 2016 in both inpatient and outpatient General Hematology which is fully supported by the hospital.

We are part of the Fraser Health Authority which has the largest population in BC and is looking to expand hematology services. I think this would be an exciting opportunity to get to know the hospital and health authority and explore permanent work opportunities, especially for those interested in working in the Vancouver area. Candidates can expect to work in a friendly group with excellent lab support. The scope of practice includes both benign and malignant hematology but does not include transplant or aggressive malignancies.

Please contact Dr. Da Roza directly (gdaroza@hotmail.com]

Gerald Da Roza, MD, MHSc, FACP, FRCPC

Nephrology & Internal Medicine, Fraser Health

UBC Clinical Associate Professor

Division Head, Fraser Health Nephrology

Director, Royal Columbian Hospital Clinical Teaching Unit, Postgraduate

Head of Medicine, Royal Columbian Hospital